In Fall 2020 we will perform a new series of Data Analysis and Data Exploration lectures for post graduates students and young researchers.

The invited speakers are faculty members and postdoc researchers.

All lectures will be performed remotely through the online platform MS Teams.

The lectures' schedule is attached in pdf format.

The lectures are funded by the Department of Food Science and Human Nutrition of the Agricultural University of Athens.

For any further information please contact the lecture series organizer Georgios Papadopoulos, Assoc. Professor of Applied Probability and Applied Statistics, gpapadop@aua.gr